Visitor Concerns of Hostile and Intimidating Behaviors

During the first six months of Academic Year 2016, Ombuds identified hostile and intimidating behavior as a factor in 11% of the cases presented to us. These behaviors take place both within evaluative and peer relationships. Departmental climate and supervisory effectiveness appear to be the context in which hostile and intimidating behavior takes place with the evaluative relationships. Communication appears to be the main context in peer relationships. The lack of respect is a common characteristic within both types of relationships. Summary attached.

Distinguishing Services of the Ombuds Office and Employee Assistance

In response to your question last Fall about differences between the services of our office and those of Employee Assistance – or how would employees choose which office to consult – our offices jointly developed the attached document – “Distinguishing the Services of the Employee Assistance and the Ombuds Office.”

The University of Wisconsin-Madison provides the Employee Assistance Office and the Ombuds Office as complementary resources to support employees in managing challenges and conflicts in the workplace….Early consultations – when the employee begins to experience a concern – will offer greater flexibility for achieving success. Employees can start with either office to explore potential campus resources.

We provide details on similarities and differences in services and the unique features of each office. We will post this on our website and include the information in our outreach activities.

Expanded Campus-wide Employee Services

In July 2016, the campus Ombuds expanded its services to include the School of Medicine and Public Health (and the School of Pharmacy) with a fifth Ombuds on the team and an immediate increase in visitor contact. Out of 90 new cases opened between July and December 2015, 21 primary visitors were SMPH employees. Our mid-year report of “Issues by Category” is included with this report.

Distinguishing the Services of the Employee Assistance Office and the Ombuds Office

The University of Wisconsin-Madison provides the Employee Assistance Office and the Ombuds Office as complementary resources to support employees in managing challenges and conflicts in the workplace.

Employee Assistance is a team of internal, licensed professional counselors whose mission is to give timely assistance to all employees with personal or work-related concerns in order to contribute to the overall performance and well-being of the employee.

Ombuds provide a safe opportunity to be heard, explore concerns, and consider resources, options, and strategies for next steps to address workplace concerns. Ombuds are impartial and non-aligned, promoting fairness in the workplace, rather than representing any side in a dispute.

Early consultations – when the employee begins to experience a concern – will offer greater flexibility for achieving success. Employees can start with either office to explore potential campus resources.

University Archives Committee Annual Report, 2014-2016

I. Function

The function of the University Archives Committee is to determine policies governing the control and use of the University Archives and Records Management.

The University Archives currently houses approximately:
27,000 linear feet of paper materials
2 million images
18,000 media items (audio tapes, transcriptions disks, films, vhs tapes, etc.)
1400 oral histories
Various portraits and memorabilia (e.g. degrees, buttons, pendants, etc.)

Archives Staff:
David Null, Director
Troy Reeves, Oral History Program
Peg Eusch, University Records Officer
Cathy Jacob, Operations Program Associate
Vacant position – see below

II. 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 Activities

The University Archives Committee met once during 2014/15 and twice during 2015/16.

III. Current Issues or Concerns

The Images/Media Archivist left the University in January 2016. The Archives will be allowed to fill the vacancy, but the position will have more emphasis on electronic records and social media. The Archives currently receives materials in electronic form, and we assume that will continue to grow. Having a person to deal with those materials on a more structured basis will be very helpful.

Our social media sites (Tumblr, Twitter, Flickr, etc.) have been very useful in getting more publicity and use of the University Archives and we hope to continue to grow those efforts.

In the fall of 2015, the Archives received generous funding from New Harvest Foundation through OutReach, and the George L. Mosse Program in History to begin collecting materials on the LGBTQ communities in Madison, building on our existing oral history efforts in that area. We have started to receive collections and we have had a lot of interest in this effort. An open house to view some of the collections is scheduled for April 29, 2016.

Also in the fall of 2015, the Oral History Program received a mini-grant from the Ira and Ineva Reilly Baldwin Wisconsin Idea Endowment to be recording oral histories with African-American alumni of the Athletic Department.

During 2014/15 the Archives shared an Association of Research Libraries/Society of American Archivists MOSIAC fellow with the Wisconsin Historical Society. The student, Harvey Long, a master’s student in the School of Library and Information Studies, developed a web site for the Archives on African-Americans at the University of Wisconsin (1875-1969).

During the summer of 2015, the General Library System put compact shelving into another room in the basement of Steenbock Library for Archives storage. This will provide another 5000 linear feet of storage and should be sufficient for several years, since we assume we will be getting less material in paper form and more in electronic form. The University Archives currently has around 27,000 linear feet of paper material.

The University Records Officer, among many other projects, has worked with campus partners to put out Guidance on Managing the Records of Departing Employees and File Plans for University Departments. She has continued to work on records schedules which have sunset, and she has led the effort to revise the UW System records schedules for Human Resources and Payroll.

IV. Future Issues

With help from the General Library System’s development officer and the Daily Cardinal Alumni Board, we will be looking at raising money to digitize the Daily Cardinal. We get many requests for a digital version of the Cardinal, and 2017 is the 125th anniversary of the paper, so this will be a major focus.

Almost none of our finding aids are available online, and this is a growing area of concern and we get more question from researchers. We will continue to pursue ways of getting more of our finding aids into digital form.

The Oral History Program currently has a list of over 350 potential interviewees. Finding people to do those interviews is a daunting task.

V. Summary/Recommendations

The University Archives will complete the survey on retention of syllabi by campus units during the spring of 2016. We hope the newly position of Digital Archivist (formerly Images/Media Archivist) will allow us to increase the amount and simplify the process of ingesting electronic records into the Archives. We will continue to find ways to bring issues around electronic records to the attention of the campus community. The Archives will continue to digitize and publicize materials from our collections.

University Committee Annual Report, 2015-2016

The University Committee (UC) meets weekly (customarily all Monday afternoon) during the fall and spring semesters and as needed throughout the summer and during the winter and spring breaks. The Office of the Secretary of the Faculty provides support to the UC. The secretary of the faculty attends all UC meetings and maintains committee records. The chancellor, provost, vice chancellors, and vice provosts are invited to attend open sessions of UC meetings and to keep the committee up-to-date on issues and initiatives.

I. Functions

As the executive committee of the Faculty Senate, the UC has the following functions (as abbreviated from Faculty Policies and Procedures (FPP) 6.54.B.):
- Considers questions and makes studies concerning the educational interests and policies of the university;
- Advises on procedures and involves the faculty in policy development and decision making;
- Consults with and provides advice to administrative officers on budget matters;
- Prepares the agenda for the faculty senate;
- Makes timely reports to the faculty;
- Appoints and/or advises on the appointment of faculty to committees;
- Serves as the faculty’s grievance committee, except for matters within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Faculty Rights and Responsibilities.

In addition, the UC serves as the board of directors of PROFS, Inc., and as such, represents the interests of the faculty to members of the state legislature and to other officials and state agencies.

II. Issues Addressed

Issues are brought to the committee in a variety of ways. Issues are brought by members of the faculty or administration, by the Academic Staff Executive Committee (ASEC) or the University Staff Executive Committee (USEC) or the Associated Students of Madison (ASM), by individuals, or are generated internally within the UC itself. Some of these issues are eventually brought to the senate for action.

The UC reporting year runs from June 1 to May 31. The committee held 44 business meetings in 2015-2016 (projected). During this reporting period, the UC spent a significant portion of its time on issues related to the following.

- The educational interests and policies of the university including considering questions of policy posed by members of the faculty and administration, communicating with and appointing faculty to committees, and setting the agendas for Faculty Senate meetings.
- The process of joint/shared governance, including representing the interests of the faculty in discussions and follow-through with members of campus and school/college administrations, the board of regents and the other campuses of the UW System, the academic staff through coordination with ASEC, the university staff through coordination with USEC, and the student body through coordination with ASM.
- Rule waiver and other requests, including tenure clock extensions, leaves of absence, grievances, and dual role approvals.
- Relations with state government, including responding to and addressing issues related to state legislation and proposals including the biennial budget, the Wisconsin Idea, tenure, shared governance, resource and management flexibilities, tuition revenue generation and caps, out-of-state enrollments, faculty compensation and pay tools. The UC sought input from faculty, staff, students, administration, the board of regents, the UW System, and colleagues at other UW campuses concerning the impact of proposed and actual legislative changes.

- High-level searches, including serving on and consulting with search and screen committees for high-level positions (Vice Chancellor for University Relations, Dean of Nursing, Director of Risk Management, Vice Chancellor for Finance and Administration, and Director of the Arts Institute)

A. Issues addressed by the Faculty Senate

Faculty Senate business and legislation is summarized each year in a document presented at the October meeting of the following year. The following is a brief summary of issues addressed by the Senate in collaboration with the University Committee.

- Tenure.
  - Three faculty resolutions were passed in response to the revised tenure policies from the Board of Regents (Fac doc 2565) (Special Session, June 9, 2015) asking the Joint Committee on Finance and/or State Legislature to strike all non-fiscal language contained in Omnibus Motion #521 from the Omnibus Bill; (Fac doc 2569a) addressed changes to FPP language (Chapters 5 and 10) related to layoff and termination; (Fac doc 2583) addressed changes to FPP language (Chapter 7)
  - Expected to be raised May 2016: a faculty resolution in response to modified tenure policies.
  - The senate passed a resolution on the AFT-Wisconsin Higher Education Council Statement on Tenure and Indefinite Status (Fac doc 2586);

- Concealed carry. The senate passed a resolution opposing it (Fac doc 2581)

- Fetal tissue research. The senate passed a resolution opposing restrictions (Fac doc 2582)

- Children in the workplace policy. The senate voted to support the HR policy (Fac doc 2613)

- Committee reports. The senate received and responded to reports from myriad standing and ad hoc committees as well as various campus units and other groups each month, including recreational sports, disability and accommodations, ombuds, and many more.

- Academic departmental changes.
  - The Division of International Studies became the International Division (Fac doc 2572)
  - College of Letters and Science:
    - The Department of African Languages and Literature became the Department of African Cultural Studies (Fac doc 2605)
    - The departments of German, Scandinavian Studies, and Slavic Languages and Literature merged to become the Department of German, Nordic, and Slavic (Fac doc 2606)
    - The Department of East Asian Languages and Literature and the Department of Languages and Cultures of Asia merged to become the Department of Asian Languages and Cultures (Fac doc 2607)
    - The School of Music became the Mead Witter School of Music (Fac doc 2608)

- Faculty Policies and Procedures changes to committees:
  - University Curriculum Committee membership change to include instructional academic staff (Fac doc 2585)
  - GLBT Issues Committee was incorporated into FPP along with a name change: Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer People in the University (Fac doc 2609)
  - Committee on Women in the University updated language
  - Expected to be raised May 2016: University Research Council to be added into FPP as new section 6.59. (Fac doc 2615)
  - Expected to be raised May 2016: A shared governance budget committee to be added into FPP as new section 6.25. (Fac doc 2616)

- Academic calendar: Academic calendar changes were taken up by Senate in October which moved exams off commencement day, which is always the 2nd Saturday in May, created a 4-week (continued) summer session in addition to 8-week one; and eliminated Friday start to semester (Fac doc 2570). The UC appointed an ad hoc committee to study broader related issues. The report of which will get the f1st reading in May.

- Tenure clock extensions: Changes to FPP Chapter 7 were made to eliminate the extra step in FPP and synchronize it with practice. Language has also been added to call attention to the appropriate format of requests, particularly as regards confidentiality in cases of illness or disability (Fac doc 2571)

- Parliamentarian: a trained and certified, non-faculty parliamentarian was appointed for the Faculty Senate.

- Shared governance:
  - The senate approved a statement of support for the faculty senate at the University of Iowa (Fac Doc 2585)
  - The senate approve a statement of support for what shared governance means on this campus that will serve as a guidepost moving forward, not unlike the “sifting and winnowing” plaque is for the Wisconsin Idea (Fac doc 2617).
  - The senate approved the 2015 reapportionment plan for senate district representation (Fac doc 2610)

- Parental leave: the Faculty Compensation and Economic Benefits committee undertook a comparison study of family leave policies at peer institutions and made recommendations that will be considered by a broader task force addressing the issue for all employment categories (Fac doc 2594)

- Sexual assault: AAU released a dismaying survey about sexual assault on campuses; the senate passed a resolution that raises awareness of the survey and makes a commitment to do something about the problem.

- Expected to be raised May 2016: Diversity and climate: Two resolutions in protest of recent hate and bias incidents on campus: one in solidarity with Muslim students, staff and faculty and another to promote cultural competency.

B. Other issues studied by the UC

Some issues are resolved by the UC without action by the senate. Other issues require exploration by the UC before being brought to the senate. Some of these issues are summarized below.

- Considered, but ultimately declined to support a general safety committee.
- Support of a survey of climate and morale on campus conducted by WISELI
- Reviewed the revised summer term revenue model.
- Participated in UW System strategic planning exercises.
- Prepared a letter for the Chicago IRB expressing UW-Madison’s consternation at a faculty survey and asking that the data be destroyed.
- Discussed ways to enhance faculty performance management
- Committee on Undergraduate Recruitment, Admissions and Financial Aid. CURAFA faced various governance structure issues. The UC assisted in getting it back on strong footing.
- Athletic Board.
- Art acquisition and disposal. Considered a proposal to create a campuswide public art advisory committee, duties of which would include reviewing offers of gifts, reviewing proposals for siting artwork, reviewing deaccessioning proposals, etc.
- Research and graduate education.
  - Received and commented on updates from the Graduate School and VCGRE, including the UW2020 initiative.
  - Discussed new graduate assistant pay structure.
- Free speech and diversity of opinion and social media. Expressed disappointment over disparagement of UW on Twitter.

  - IRB/human subjects,
  - tenure and post-tenure review,
  - layoff and termination,
  - family leave,
  - sexual assault,

V. Rule Waivers, Other Personnel Items, and Interpretations

The UC is authorized under FPP to hear requests for rule waivers such as extensions of the tenure clock, leaves of absence and temporary assignments, and conversion of a probationary faculty appointment to an academic staff appointment. It also serves as the hearing committee for faculty grievances other than those under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Faculty Rights and Responsibilities. These personnel matters are of great import to those concerned, and the UC spends considerable time studying, discussing, and resolving these requests. The UC is also charged with clarifying and rendering interpretations of FPP.

During 2015-2016 (as of the end of April), the UC dealt with 6 leave-of-absence requests and 28 tenure clock extension requests. Each year, the UC also considers and deals with a large number of other personnel issues, including track transfers, academic staff dual roles, and grievances. It is difficult to put a specific number on these items for several reasons. For example, in addition to the fact that they commonly bridge years, the distinction between a grievance and a simple request to be heard or to clarify information is not a bright line. Moreover, often the UC chair will meet with faculty members to discuss possible grievances that only materialize as official complaints years later, if at all. A review of the official agendas and minutes of the UC show that there are at least a dozen of these items per year, but an exact count would be nearly impossible.

Advisory Committee for the Office of Equity and Diversity Annual Report, 2014-2015

Committee members: Parameswaran Ramanathan (chair), Catherine Stephens, Steffen Lempp, Thomas Browne, Steven Kosciuk, Pilar Ossorio, Mauriel Limechi, S. J. Park, Gwedolyn Jordan, Fei Men, Trenton Lee Yadro, Tim Shedd,

- At its September 2014 meeting, committee discussed the potential underreporting issue with status of veterans and people with disabilities, which may impact the compliance with Federal regulations. At that time, ADA coordinator overseeing equity and diversity compliances was yet to be appointed.
- The committee also raised concerns about accessibility to buildings during winter and remodeling when handicapped individuals might hardly get into buildings such as Van Hise. The committee invited Bill Elvey (Associate Vice Chancellor for Facilities Planning and Management) and Top Tantiviatt (Facilities Planning and Management) to its November 2014 meeting to discuss this issue and other issues related to campus facilities management.
- Bill Elvey and Top Tantiviatt summarized ongoing efforts on diversity issues.
  - A pilot project on campus bus with access is underway.
  - Campus efforts are also underway to lower the button to open doors from 48” to 32”.
  - Accessible map is available on campus website. It shows accessible entrances and slope of access ramps.
  - Building codes do not require button to every door. However, all new building on campus will have such automatic doors on every door.
  - Pilot project with a company that has a wayfinding application through audio is underway.
  - Accessible entrances get high priority for snow clearing.
  - FP&M requires all managers to take training on inclusion and diversity. FP&M is working with Urban League to foster recruitment from diverse groups.
- FP&M has several excellent efforts to foster equity and diversity. The committee discussed ways of onboarding those to other units.
- The campus may want to look the University of California, Berkeley’s recent adoption of Principles of Community as a model.
- The committee invited Fred Fotis and other guests from UW Housing to discuss equity and diversity issues in campus housing.
  - New dorms like DeJope are fully accessible. There are rooms which are accessible for someone who needs 24-hours care.
  - It is however difficult to make older dorms such as Barnard to be easily accessible.
  - Every house fellow is required to talk to all their residents at least thrice a year. They have a template with about 10 questions to discuss with each resident. This gives them a sense of the climate issues among residents in their unit.
  - UW Housing has a variety of programs to foster discussion among its residents on equity, diversity, culture, race, and other issues. These programs use contemporary topics such as the Tony Robinson case to bring awareness.

Proposed Changes to the Academic Calendar

The academic calendar serves as an information source and planning document for faculty, staff, departments, and students as well as for many of the administrative offices of the university. Its development requires adherence to a number of institutional policies that act as the framework for the calendar. On 3 December 2012, the Faculty Senate approved the calendar for 2016-2021 (Fac doc 2366), according to the following formal constraints:

1. UW System policy on the definition of the academic year provides that the contractual academic year is defined as 39 weeks of continuous faculty employment, including not fewer than 34 weeks of organized services for students including advising and registration, classroom instruction, and examinations.
2. State of Wisconsin legislation requires that classes commence after 1 September.
3. Faculty document 488a sets forth rules governing the timing of the spring break:
   a. If the first day of Passover and Good Friday occur in the same week, and that is the 8th to 11th week of the second semester, that week should be spring break.
   b. If either the first day of Passover or Good Friday occurs during the 8th to 11th week, that week would be the spring break.
   c. If both the first day of Passover and Good Friday occur in the 8th to 11th week, but they do not occur in the same week, the week of Passover should be the spring break.
   d. If none of the above, the break should be the 9th week.
4. The eight-day summary period policy adopted by the Faculty Senate in 1977 requires that the first day be for individual study and review, with no classes or exams. The remaining seven days must accommodate 38 two-hour exam blocks with a maximum of six blocks in a single day: 7:45 a.m., 10:05 a.m., 12:25 p.m., 2:45 p.m., 5:05 p.m., and 7:25 p.m.
5. Faculty legislation requires that course grades be completed by each instructor and submitted to the Office of the Registrar within six calendar days (144 hours) from the date and hour of each two-hour block scheduled during the summary period.

Other considerations and constraints that traditionally guide the creation of the academic calendar include:

6. For the fall semester, exams must be completed by December 23.
7. The fall semester includes the Thanksgiving break with no instruction on the Thursday of Thanksgiving and the following Friday.
8. By practice, and with other constraints, the winter break is typically about 4 weeks long.
9. The University is closed to observe the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday.
10. The fall/spring semesters are to be of as equal length as possible.
11. Federal financial aid regulations require a standard 15-week semester, which includes instruction and final exams.
12. By practice, the summer semester starts with a 3-week session between the spring semester and the start of the 8-week session.
13. By practice, the 8-week summer session starts in mid-June, scheduled to being the Monday after the end of instruction in Wisconsin public high school.

Developments and discussions subsequent to passage of the 2016-2021 calendar in December 2012 highlighted that a review and systematic revision of the process for establishing the academic calendar could provide opportunities to improve the student experience and enhance some administrative functions. Significant issues identified as problematic included the routine overlap of final exams with Saturday commencement ceremonies in May, the Friday before the Labor Day weekend as a solitary class day, and the irregular and variable spring dates of instruction. In addition, an earlier and consistent end date of the spring semester would allow a four-week “May term,” creating opportunities for new student learning experiences.

A working group was formed to study the above issues and recommended the creation of two additional constraints to address the most pressing needs:

1. Begin fall semester instruction on the Tuesday following Labor Day, except when Labor Day falls on September 7, in which case begin instruction on Wednesday, September 2.

2. Set the start date of the spring semester based on counting backwards from commencement set on the second Saturday in May.

Based on these recommendations, the Faculty Senate passed revisions to the 2016-2021 calendars at its October 2015 meeting (Fac doc 2570).

Recognizing that the October 2015 Senate action only addressed the most pressing calendar issues, as well as the fact that those changes created other issues, the University Committee charged the Ad Hoc Committee on the Academic Calendar in December 2015 with devising an academic calendar that best serves our academic goals. Some of the existing constraints date back several decades and thus predate online registration, changes in teaching and assessment, moving from labor intensive paper-based processes to electronic entry of grading, and so on. The committee’s report with recommendations, submitted to the University Committee on April 15, 2016, begins on page 6 below.

The University Committee recommends that the Faculty Senate begin the implementation of the recommendations of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Academic Calendar by

- modifying Faculty Legislation II-105(1) and (6),
- approving further revision to the remaining years of the current calendar, and
- endorsing the changes necessary to implement the other recommendations contained in the ad hoc committee’s report.
Report and Recommendations
On the Academic Calendar
From the University Committee to the Faculty Senate
April 18, 2016

Authority for establishment of the UW-Madison academic calendar is vested in the faculty (FPP 1.20.C.3) and approved in 5-year increments by the Faculty Senate. Setting the calendar is bound by a number of constraints stemming from state law, UW System policy, UW-Madison faculty legislation, and established patterns of practice. At its October 2015 meeting, the Faculty Senate passed revisions to the 2016-2021 calendars that simplified logistics and enhanced educational offerings. Those revisions resulted in the following changes to what is herein referred to as the “approved calendar.”

1. Begin fall semester instruction on the Tuesday following Labor Day, except when Labor Day falls on September 7, in which case begin instruction on Wednesday, September 2. This change eliminates single class days before the Labor Day weekend.

2. Set the start date of the spring semester based on counting backwards from commencement set on the second Saturday in May. As a consequence, the first day of instruction falls on either the Monday preceding, or the Tuesday following, Martin Luther King Jr. Day. This change eliminates commencement conflicting with exams.

3. Creates a consistent 4-week window to provide an early summer session between the spring semester and the 8-week summer session. The 4-week summer term was created to offer additional student learning opportunities, allow greater flexibility to instructors, increase summer enrollments to a level commensurate with our peers, augment the visibility of UW-Madison during the summer, improve facility use, enhance revenue, and create strategies to attract new student audiences.

After the above changes, several issues remain unaddressed by the current method of creating the academic calendar. Some of the existing constraints date back several decades and thus predate online registration, changes in teaching and assessment, moving from labor intensive paper-based processes to electronic entry of grading, and so on. The Ad Hoc Committee on the Academic Calendar was charged with exploring additional opportunities to streamline the rules for setting the academic calendar and devising an academic calendar that best serves our academic goals. The committee was asked to submit a report with recommendations to the University Committee by April 30, 2016.

The committee met six times over the spring 2016 semester and considered federal financial aid and accreditation regulations, human resources (HR) and employment requirements, UW System policies, campus policies, state statutes, and other policies related to the academic calendar. Individual committee members also met separately to gather input from other stakeholders and campus community members.

The committee has come to agreement and has drafted the following six recommendations, to take effect with the 2017-2018 academic year, and believes these adjustments will provide greater consistency and predictability, allowing flexibility for emerging forms of instruction, bring us into better alignment with our peers and partners, and maximize summer learning opportunities and facility utilization. The recommendations are mostly independent of each other, though the calendar is more orderly if they act together. Many of the following recommendations result specifically from the changes made to the calendar to accommodate a new 4-week early summer session, which would be in addition to the robust set of existing summer sessions. The goals of this new session – reduced time to graduation, increased enrollments, revenues and visibility for UW-Madison and its academic departments, and increased teaching and learning opportunities – are the primary beneficiary of most of the committee’s recommendations.
Recommendations:

1. Adjust faculty contract to begin and end one week earlier, and shift the 4-week summer session to one week later.
2. Shorten semesters to 69 days of instruction and activity over 15 weeks.
3. Shorten the summary period by one day, and explore possible further adjustments.
4. Shorten the grade submission period to 72 hours after the last final exam day.
5. Clarify Wisconsin Statute s.36.11(16) to limit application to undergraduates.
6. Request that some or all sections of UWS document ACPS-4 be abolished.

Recommendation #1. Adjust faculty contract to begin and end one week earlier, and shift the 4-week summer session to one week later.

Current contract: usually the last Monday in August to late May Proposed contract: usually the next-to-last Monday in August to mid-May

Current 4-week: starts immediately after commencement
Proposed 4-week: starts one week after commencement

The faculty contract year defines the period under which 9-month employees (faculty, academic staff, and graduate student assistants) are paid. The contract is defined as 34 weeks of scheduled activities and five weeks that “shall be used by faculty members for scholarly pursuits and instructional development as individual, self-directed professionals.” The faculty contract does not dictate when 9-month employees have to be physically present on campus or determine workloads or work schedules. Rather, the contract defines the beginning and end of the pay period. Traditionally, the faculty contract has started with welcome week and continued through fall semester, winter break, and spring semester, and concluded a couple of weeks after the spring semester. The committee proposes starting the contract one week before traditional welcome week and ending one week earlier. Just as the previous faculty contract did not mandate work or physical presence during certain portions of the period (such as welcome week, winter break, spring break, or the weeks after the end of the semester), the proposed faculty contract would not change timing or requirements of work.

The new 4-week summer session was originally planned to begin immediately after the spring semester. When the new 4-week summer session was approved, it had the unintended consequence of creating an approximately two-week overlap between the faculty contract and the new session. This will seriously impair the ability to pay 9-month employees who also want to teach during the 4-week summer session. This means that fewer people will be able to take advantage of the new summer session and is thus in direct conflict with a major goal of the new summer session, which was to increase the availability of learning opportunities and options, thus reducing time to graduation, improving facility utilization, and bringing our campus into alignment with peer institutions. The recommended adjustment to both the faculty contract and the 4-week summer session will eliminate the overlap, thus enabling 9-month employees to be paid to work the 4-week session and restoring the original intent of the 4-week summer session. This recommendation affects all 9-month faculty, instructional staff, and graduate students.

Academic and administrative benefits:
- Eliminates overlap between faculty contract and new summer session.
- Eliminates gap between 4-week and 8-week summer sessions.
- Expands available time for welcome week events in fall.
- Expands time for more robust employee training and orientation before fall semester.
- Allows additional time for spring semester grading, reporting, and processing academic actions (for example, dean’s list, academic standing, etc.)

Downsides:
- New employees will have to complete paperwork one week earlier (within 3 days of the start of the pay period) in order to be paid (federal guidelines). For many new employees, this will require being on campus one week earlier than currently.
- Employees with job responsibilities which typically require being on campus during welcome week may be required to begin the year one week earlier.

Other considerations:
- One week gap between spring semester and summer session.
- Job requirements which now start one week before classes may now start two weeks before classes.

Action needed from: Senate to change calendar

Recommendation #2: Shorten semesters to 69 days of instruction and activity over 15 weeks.

UW-Madison academic calendars have traditionally had 70-72 instructional days in the fall and 71-73 days in the spring. This is more than at many of our peer institutions and longer than required by accreditors and others. More importantly, we were at a level longer than required, which has caused problems due to our required start after September 1 and the Christmas Eve holiday. A consistent 69-day semester would mean a reduction of one to two Tuesday-Thursday (TR) class meetings and zero to two Monday-Wednesday-Friday (MWF) class meetings. This recommendation links to Recommendation #3 and affects the entire UW-Madison community.

Fixed points:
- Fall classes always start on Wednesday; spring classes always start on a Tuesday after Martin Luther King, Jr. Day.
- Convocation on the day immediately preceding instruction in fall (eliminates idle time before the holiday weekend).
- Undergraduate commencement is always the second Saturday in May.
- Independent of faculty contract.
- Independent of summer options.
- Within accreditation standards and peer practice.
- Within financial aid requirements (requires 15 weeks with at least one day of instruction and activities).
- Shortened semester.

Teaching and student benefits:
- Predictability of the start, end, and number of class days makes planning easier for all kinds of academic and co-curricular activities.
- Better balance between semesters, which would now always be of equal lengths.
- Aligns with peers, allowing for easier combined education opportunities.
- Fall semester typically ends a bit sooner, allowing more time between last exam and winter holiday.
- Restores almost all of previous winter break, which existed before the Faculty Senate enacted the academic calendar changes in fall 2015 for the 2016-2021 calendars.

Administrative benefits:
- Increases the time for financial aid processing, final grading, and end of semester academic actions.
- Schedule of classes would be easier to build, due to the consistency.
- Gains a business day between Labor Day and classes.
- Housing contracts starts may have more flexibility.
- Allows for regular “end of summer” SOAR schedule to be implemented.

Downside:
- Reduces instruction by one or two days per class.

Additional considerations:
- A fall break is not possible without changing the state-determined fall start of September 2 or reducing the winter break or extending fall semester into legal holidays.

Actions needed: Senate to change calendar; registrar to update future academic calendars in the student information system.

Recommendation #3: Shorten summary period by one day, and possible further adjustments.

Faculty legislation currently mandates an eight-day summary period, of which the first day is a study day and the remainder is “exam week.” As part of the latter, each section of courses that have indicated a final exam will be held during the course approval process is assigned an exam block. Based on conversations with faculty, students, and others, it is apparent that many of these exam blocks assignments are not used for traditional in-class exams. National trends, changes in pedagogy, and emerging forms of instruction all indicate that this alternative use of the summary period will continue and likely increase. Eliminating one of the seven exam days has already been piloted as part of the effort to eliminate conflicts between exams and commencement, with no negative effects reported. The extended exam period is particularly an issue in the fall semester, with exams currently ending two days before the winter holiday. This recommendation links to Recommendation #2 and affects all students and instructors, as well as administrators who process end of semester grades, academic actions, and reports.

Teaching and student benefits:
- More flexibility for departmental commencement events
- An additional reduction in the summary period beyond the initial one day reduction could lead to a corresponding increase in study days.

Additional information/study needed:
- Re-think how exams are laid out; with current pedagogical trends, there are fewer cumulative exams in lieu of projects, etc.
- Consider adapting exams to accommodate seniors, to avoid bunch-up.
- Could affect University Housing requirements.
- Could lead to an increase in students experiencing “hardship” in the number of exams within a 24-hour period (policy reference: https://registrar.wisc.edu/documents/exam_policy.pdf).

Action needed:
1. Senate to modify Faculty Legislation II-105(1) to shorten summary period.
2. During spring 2016 summary period, Office of the Registrar will determine exam period usage and consider possible additional changes. Evaluate how the need for a final exam block is conveyed as well as subsequent exam block assignment processes and consider possible changes.
Recommendation #4: Shorten grade submission period to 72 hours after the last final exam day.

Current policy is that all grades are to be reported no later than 144 hours after the assigned exam time for the course. However, this policy is not currently enforced and the de facto grade reporting deadline is 144 hours after the last exam. UW-Madison is a significant outlier in this regard when compared to peer institutions. Of the AAU institutions that responded to a brief and informal survey regarding final grading deadlines, 80% have a shorter grade submission period than UW-Madison. The extended grade reporting period dates to a time when workflows were paper-based; electronic reporting of grades allows for substantially reduced reporting windows. The current practice means that the administration cannot begin processing academic probations, deans’ lists, other reports (or begin tracking down missing grade reports), and actions until well after the semester ends. Exam times are scheduled on a rotating basis across the summary period. In practice, exams are scheduled as much as possible so as not to be clustered for students or for instructors teaching multiple large classes. This recommendation would only affect those with exams assigned on the last day or two of the summary period, as the 72-hour deadline is after the last exam date, rather than after specific exams. Similar to current practice, instructors can consult with their department chair and/or school/college academic dean’s office to explore alternatives when extenuating circumstances exist. If this recommendation is not adopted, at a minimum the current policy will have to be enforced in order to eliminate current practice of most grade reporting occurring after exams are over. Affects all instructors, especially those with exams on the last day of the summary period, and academic administration.

Teaching and student advantages:
• When grades are submitted quickly, students are able to make informed academic decisions about future course enrollments.
• Student demands for quicker actions, reporting, and degree clearance activities met.
• Instructor and teaching assistant workload over holiday eliminated.
• Enables earlier processing of the federally required Satisfactory Academic Progress calculations, which provides a longer window for students to submit appeals and the appeals to be reviewed by financial aid prior to the subsequent term’s disbursements.

Administrative advantages:
• Allows more efficient processing of grades, end of term processing, and determination of deans’ list and graduation status. Reduces stress on academic deans’ offices and administrative staff.
• Enables quicker processing of withdrawals for the required Return of Title IV Funds (financial aid) calculations, federally mandated to be completed no more than 30 days from the end of term.
• Enables processing of academic actions and other matters prior to start of 4-week summer term.

Action needed: Senate to update Faculty Legislation II-105(6).
Recommendation #5: Clarify Wisconsin Stat s.36.11(16) to limit application to undergraduates.

When the Wisconsin legislature passed the requirement that classes could not begin until after September 1, exemptions were made for graduate-level programs that existed at the time that were not required to adhere to the new start date. Since that time, other graduate-level programs have been created, particularly in the health sciences, which operate under similar professional calendar structures to those specifically exempted in the statute. This has created a significant hardship on programs such as the Pharmacy doctorate, which are currently bound by the mandated start date rather than the calendar allowed for other similar programs. It has also put these programs at a competitive disadvantage to peer institutions with similar professional programs. Rather than add to the list of programs exempted, the committee believes it would be simpler to clarify the intent of the statute, which appears to have been to apply the mandatory September start date only to undergraduate-level classes. Affects graduate-level and professional programs, especially in the health sciences.

Current language: Commencement of fall semester. The board shall ensure that no fall semester classes at any institution, except medical school classes and 4th year classes at the school of veterinary medicine, commence until after September 1.

Proposed language: Commencement of fall semesters. The board shall ensure that no undergraduate fall semester at any institution commence until after September 1.

This would be more inclusive and would consider the needs of other professional schools such as Pharmacy, and it appears to be consistent with legislative intent. This enables flexibility, but most graduate programs would remain on the same calendar. This gives flexibility to programs like Pharmacy or MBA to start earlier, but most traditional programs would likely continue on as before.

Additional considerations:
- How it would affect classes which are mixed graduate/undergraduate.
- Many committee members suggested removing this statute altogether, as long as the K-12 school year was similarly scheduled.
- A fall break is not possible without changing the state-determined fall start of September 2 or reducing the winter break or extending fall semester into legal holidays.

Action needed: UW-Madison Chancellor, Vice Chancellor for University Relations, and the Faculty Senate would work with UW System to have legislation changed, or find an alternative solution for the professional programs.
Recommendation #6: Request that some or all sections of ACPS-4 be discarded.

Much of document University of Wisconsin System Policy on Academic Year Definition and Assorted Derivatives. Academic Planning Statement No. 4 (ACPS-4) (last updated by the Board of Regents 2/11/2000) is redundant or superseded by other policies and thereby create an audit risk. The terminology and processes are outdated, yet it determines the contract year and length. A new policy document should be created that is more narrowly focused. Some of this may be relevant for other UW System campuses but not UW-Madison. Specific sections are detailed below.

Preamble: This section could be in a revised document.
- Clarify how the sections apply to all teaching staff categories (e.g., faculty, academic staff, and graduate student employees).

1. The academic year and calendar: This section could be in a revised document.
   - Omit time allowance for registration, which is no longer in person and on-site
   - Omit reference to advising, which takes place all year.

2. The awarding of credit: Discard this section
   - Superseded by the 2011 Federal Regulations on Credit
   - The Higher Learning Commission requirements include demonstration of compliance with federal regulations (commission.org/Accreditation-Processes/accreditation.html). It wouldn’t be practical or possible to be in compliance with both federal policies and ACPS-4; it would be a liability during an audit.

3. The period of appointment for faculty: This section could be in a revised document.
   - Update registration reference (“… scheduled campus registration for the fall term…”): registration for the fall term starts in the previous April.

4. Compensation adjustments for interrupted service or unanticipated termination of appointments: Discard this section
   - Should be housed by UWSA/UW-Madison payroll services (Service Center: uwservice.wisconsin.edu)

5. Eligibility--sick leave, teacher retirement, social security, unemployment compensation, etc.: Discard this section
   a. Sick leave: UWSA and UW-Madison have their own policies (kb.wisc.edu/ohr/policies).
   b. Retirement: Covered by other UWSA policies (ohr.wisc.edu/benefits/retirement).
   c. Unemployment compensation and social security: Covered by federal and state laws.

6. Unanticipated assignments for faculty members from University sources during the period of appointment: Discard this section
   a. General policy: Out of date; UW-Madison follows the current policy on overloads: https://kb.wisc.edu/ohr/policies/page.php?id=53140
   b. Mini-sessions during the academic year: Covered by other UWSA and UW-Madison policies. UW-Madison’s policy is unique because of an 8/9ths pay policy over three years.
   c. Summer session and post-commencement (-term) mini-session: same as b.
   d. Interinstitutional instructional consulting, or technical service on an overload basis: reads in part: “… short-term, or nonrecurring in nature”; this is not followed in practice.
   e. Off-campus credit instruction: Obsolete terminology and set of practices.
   f. Non-credit continuing education and public service programs: reads in part: “… as outlined in the April 1982 Regent's Policy and as set forth in the ACIS-5.” If the Academic Information Series 5 (ACIS) has not been updated since 1982, it will also be out of date.
   g. Monitoring of overload payments: Salary figures are wrong; should be moved to overload policies. UW-Madison may be exempt with new personnel system (clarify).

Action needed: UW System Administration (specifically, the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs) to update the policy document.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON
ACADEMIC MATTERS II-105
SUMMARY PERIOD FOR ACADEMIC SEMESTER

1. The academic semester consists of an advising and a course registration period, a regularly scheduled instructional period, and an eight-day no more than a 7-day summary period. The first day of the summary period is for individual study and review, and no classes or exams are to be scheduled then. The last seven other days are prescheduled to include one two-hour summary block for each course of two or more credits. This two-hour block shall be used for an examination or for other instructional activities as deemed appropriate by the instructor and as approved by the instructional unit offering the course. Final examinations or other summary period activities cannot be scheduled during the two weeks preceding the summary period. Take-home final examinations are due at the scheduled two-hour block.

2. The summary period block schedule must be published and must be adhered to by all faculty in accordance with faculty legislation requirements. The Office of the Registrar is authorized to prepare the summary period block schedule without submitting it to the faculty for approval, except that any college or school may prepare its own summary block schedule.

3. The time of a two-hour block for a class and/or the due date for the take-home examination may be changed only with the prior approval of the dean. Where a student has more than two summary blocks scheduled within a period of 24 hours, the instructor may, within guidelines adopted by the college or school faculty, reschedule a final exam to avoid hardship. Rescheduled summary blocks shall be of the same general nature and quality as the activities of the regular two-hour summary block.

4. Special hours within the prescribed summary period shall be assigned by the Office of the Registrar, in consultation with the dean, for combined summary periods in multiple-section courses that have no common meeting hour.

5. Undergraduate seminar courses, independent study, and directed study courses are exempted from the above rules. Also, the rules apply only to courses numbered 699 or below.

6. Course grades must be completed by each instructor and submitted to the Office of the Registrar within six calendar days (144 hours) from the date and hour of the two-hour block scheduled during the summary period three days (72 hours) after the last final exam day.

Values Statement on Shared Governance

The University of Wisconsin-Madison is committed to shared governance as it has been historically practiced since the establishment of the University of Wisconsin System. Shared governance on the UW-Madison campus involves four groups: faculty, academic staff, university staff, and students, in partnership with the administration. Administration (chancellor) [WI State Statute 36.09 (3)], faculty [WI State Statute 36.09 (4)], and students [WI State Statute 36.09 (5)] were included in shared governance in state statutes at the time of merger in 1973. Academic staff [WI State Statute 36.09 (4m)] were added in 1985. University staff [BOR policy 20-20] were granted shared governance rights by Board of Regents policy in 2012.

The practice of shared governance at UW-Madison means an active partnership among shared governance groups, the chancellor, and other administrative leaders with regard to campus decision-making and policy-making. The appropriate shared governance bodies must be involved in decisions concerning academics, research, student life, campus climate, diversity, search and screen committees for campus leadership, human resources, campus health and life, and other matters of campus-wide import. Shared governance involvement creates a transparent, collaborative, and inclusive process, which leads to enduring policies, procedures, ownership, and implementation.

All shared governance groups are able to organize themselves as they see fit, defining and maintaining their own respective policies as they relate to each group. The guiding documents for shared governance at UW-Madison include Academic Staff Policies and Procedures (ASPP), Faculty Policies and Procedures (FPP), University Staff policies and procedures, Associated Students of Madison Constitution and Bylaws, related legislation, and other shared governance policies.

We hereby call on the shared governance groups, together with the chancellor, to convene a joint committee to create specific policies that operationalize the goals and practices articulated above.

We further call upon the chancellor to delegate primary responsibility for academic and educational activities and faculty personnel matters to the faculty.

We further call upon the chancellor to delegate primary responsibility to academic staff for the formulation and review, as well as representation in the development, of all policies and procedures concerning academic staff members, including academic staff personnel matters to the academic staff.

We further call upon the chancellor to delegate primary responsibility to university staff for the formulation and review, and as well as representation in the development, of all policies and procedures concerning university staff members, including university staff personnel matters to the university staff.

We further call upon the chancellor to delegate primary responsibility to students regarding the formulation and review of policies concerning student life, services, and interests to the students.
