February 18, 2015

Kelly Haslam
Assistant Dean
Academic Planning and Assessment
Graduate School
University of Wisconsin-Madison
231a Bascom Hall
500 Lincoln Drive
Madison, WI 53706

In a meeting of the governance committee of the Nelson Institute for Environmental Studies on February 16th 2015, a motion was passed to terminate the graduate program (including both the minor and certificate) in CHANGE (Certificate on Humans and the Global Environment). The vote was unanimous, 24-0, in favor of termination.

The status of CHANGE students has been reviewed. All CHANGE minors are complete. All current CHANGE certificate students have finished their course work in CHANGE and have completed study plans. There are no students currently enrolled in the certificate. The names of students who have completed the certificate but who have yet to graduate in their own program have been posted to the Registrar’s Office to facilitate graduation.

We request approval of termination, therefore, from the Graduate Faculty Executive Committee.

If you have any questions or require any further clarifications, please do not hesitate to contact me here.

With best wishes,

Paul Robbins
Professor and Director
Nelson Institute for Environmental Studies